John Green Joins HealthSmart as Assistant Vice President of Network Development

(Dallas, Texas) November 7, 2013 — HealthSmart is pleased to announce that John Green has joined the organization as Assistant Vice President of Network Development. Mr. Green will be based out of the Company's headquarters in Irving, Texas and will lead the expansion of HealthSmart's national ancillary partnerships and disbursement programs. With extensive industry experience, Mr. Green will be a strong addition to HealthSmart's network development team.

Mr. Green came to HealthSmart from Ancillary Care Services, a nation-wide ancillary provider system. As the National Director of Provider Development, he oversaw the entire scope of network development functions including provider contracting strategy, multiple network configurations, pricing structures and profitability. In addition, he assisted in the successful design, development and packaging of several cost containment solutions.

John's extensive experience also includes senior management roles with The Principal Financial Group's healthcare division, Children's Medical Center Dallas and with Great-West Healthcare, Inc. He is also an active member of several professional organizations, including the DFW Managed Healthcare Association and the American Physicians Network Advisory Board.

"John's wealth of knowledge and expertise in the national ancillary contracting field strengthens our relationship with key providers as well as our network," said Marty Sholder, Executive Vice President of Network Solutions at HealthSmart.
